Former FAA Special Agent

Steve Tochterman was born in Green Bay, Wisconsin, and raised in the Panama Canal Zone. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Law Enforcement and Police Science from Sam Houston State University.

Steve's law enforcement career spans over 35 years, including roles as a Federal Air Marshal and Civil Aviation Security Specialist with the FAA. He has worked in various locations, including Florida, Georgia, Belgium, and Singapore, and has traveled to over 50 countries, providing aviation security training and consulting services.

Steve was twice named FAA's Security Employee of the Year and has received awards from the Office of the National Drug Control Policy, including White House invitations. His expertise in aircraft registration has led to the seizure of over 300 aircraft involved in illicit activities. He has trained more than 2000 individuals across 100 agencies worldwide.

Since retiring, Steve has founded an aviation consulting business and secured a contract as a federal contractor with the U.S. State Department to provide training in Central America. He co-authored this book to honor those involved in aviation investigations and advocate for improvements in the U.S. aircraft registration process.
